FOREST FIRE THREATENS ANTELOPE DISTRICT

Increase Crews in Effort to Halt Flames From Further Spreading

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Crews fighting the fire in Angeles forest, raging for the past month, were increased today to prevent further destruction of the Antelope valley watershed, where the flames are now destroying valuable timber.

Efforts were concentrated to prevent the fire spreading to Little Rock creek, which is the entrance to fertile Antelope valley.

Twelve miles distant the fire is ravaging big timber in Cloudburst canyon, and forest officials said the flames might burn there for days before they were controlled.

Fire Situation In South Is Declared to Be Better

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—The forest fire situation on Palomar mountain—the highest peak in California's southernmost counties—was improved this morning, Forestry Supervisor Bolden announced.

On the west side of the mountain where 2,000 acres were burned over yesterday, the flames were believed under control and on the east side there were indications that unless the weather changes for the worse the fire may be controlled by late today. Kindly winds and fog have been of great aid to the 300 men fighting the fire, it was said.

The Descanso fire which yesterday was endangering several mountain villages was controlled early today.

Aged Trail Blazer Is En Route East by Plane

MOFFUT FIELD, Omaha, Oct. 3.—Blazing an uncharted air trail across the rolling Nebraska prairies, Ezra Meeker, 94-year-old Oregon trail breaker, arrived in Omaha at 10:15 o'clock today in the army plane piloted by Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelly, and returned to the flight eastward to Dayton, Ohio, at 11 a. m.

The plane carrying the famous pioneer left the regular air mail route at North Platte and, as Meeker had done in a covered wagon over seventy years before, followed an unmarked, uncharted course across the state.

Husband Fond of Bear; Wife Tries to End Life

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Elsie Boyle, 32, former Polles girl, was in a hospital here today, following, according to police, two attempts at suicide. The woman told police she was the wife of Jack Boyle, writer and author of the "Boston Blackie" stories. Boyle, the woman informed the officers, had more affection for his pet bear than for her.

BASEBALL RESULTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The veteran Red Faber tamed the wild Cubs from the north side today and the White Sox, American league representatives, won their second game of the city series, 6 to 3. Faber allowed nine well-scattered blows and his mates gathered eight hits from the offerings of the Cub pitchers.

The series now stands two games for the American leaguers and one for the Nationals.

LABOR SITUATION IN ENGLAND TOLD

Rev. C. A. Cole Gives Second Travel Talk at Kiwanis Club Luncheon

The British Isles are facing an industrial and labor situation the United States does not have, Rev. C. A. Cole told members of the Kiwanis club in his second travel talk, delivered at the meeting held today noon at the Tuesday Afternoon club. The shipbuilding industry in Glasgow has been hit hard, he said, while England will never be able to regain the industrial prestige it held before the war.

One of the depressing matters in England, he said, was the "dole" paid by the government to men who were not employed. This action tended to encourage unrest and unemployment, he said, and unless checked would pauperize the country. He told of the desertions by the Germans in Belgium, and described the manner of travel in some of the countries he visited on his recent European trip.

A. W. Perry Presides at the meeting in the absence of President A. L. Baird. Normal Hayhurst, coach at the Broadway High school, distributed tickets for the football game this afternoon. A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal of the high school, spoke of the classes in current events and history which will start at the night school next Thursday. Ed Radke reported on the work of the helpless children committee.

A motion to increase the dues $5 a year to care for a subscription of $2,000 to the Y. M. C. A. fund was tabled for a week on motion of James F. McBryde to enable the board of directors and members of the finance committee to work out a problem for raising funds for the annual Halloween party and the Y fund.

E. P. Peck won the attendance prize donated by Harry Hall. The silent boost was contributed by Ray Bentley of the Bentley Lumber Co. Milford Jackson sang two solos. Fred Deal announced the next zone meeting would be held in Glendale the last Monday of this month. The customary collection was taken to commemorate the arrival of an eight pound boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wittmeyer this morning.

REVEAL PLAN TO DESTROY SHANGHAI BY FIRE

Representatives of Foreign Governments Warned of Incendiary Plot

SHANGHAI, Oct. 3.—Chekiang forces retreated two miles today following heavy fighting at Sungkiang, the Kiangsu forces halting their advance at nightfall.

All other fronts were comparatively quiet today. It is now believed that the Kiangsu general attack will be renewed Saturday. Chekiang headquarters claim the discovery of a widespread plot of incendiaries to fire Shanghai and have warned representatives of foreign governments.

Many suspects have been arrested in this connection, two confessed and were executed. A strict guard has been placed around important sections of the city.

World War Hero Made Defendant In Big Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Blake R. Vanier, assistant professor at the University of California, war hero, who recently surprised his friends by eloping to Hollister with Miss Ella Wall, former overseas nurse, and known in American legion circles as "American Legion's sweetheart," was made defendant in a $100,000 heart balm suit in which Miss Ella Clara March, former Stanford co-ed, charges he was felled by the professor for Miss Wall. The suit claims that Professor Van Leer and Miss March were engaged for more than three years and that his marriage to Miss Wall, September 6 took place just two days after they had a disagreement.

At the election for governor two years ago, 6414 votes were cast in Glendale, of which 962 is the necessary 15 per cent. In obtaining 1992 certified signatures, Mr. Van Wie points out, the necessary minimum was exceeded by 130 votes.

Divorce Case Changed To U. S. District Court

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Efforts of Mrs. Edmee Plata, to obtain her freedom from her husband, Mitridates H. Plata, Peruvian consul at Chicago, were transferred from the state to the federal courts today on a belief that because of the official status of Plata, the state court had no jurisdiction. A new bill of divorce, filed in United States district court today, charges the Peruvian official with misconduct with Adele Salter, Seattle, Wash., dancer at a hotel at Colon, Canal Zone, and relates that the two journeyed together from Colon to New York where it states they registered as man and wife.

La Follette Men Deny Charge of Coalition

Proposition Goes Before Voters at November Election

Secure Many More Names for Petition Than Law Requires; City Council to Meet Saturday and Take Action

The $650,000 civic center bond proposition will be resubmitted to the voters of Glendale on November 4, it was announced this morning, after an all-night check of the signatures on the petition circulated yesterday.

The check was held in the office of the Los Angeles county registrar. When 1992 names had been certified, the checkers stopped their work, although the petition contained 2300 signatures.

More Than Needed
The 1992 certified signatures are 130 more than the law requires, according to A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, and he will accordingly certify the petition to the City Council at the adjourned session reconvening at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, Saturday, October 4, when the necessary steps will be taken to have this proposition put before the voters of Glendale.

Inasmuch as this issue cannot be put on the regular ballot, a separate ballot will be prepared, as is the custom when special propositions are brought before the voters at general elections, according to Mr. Van Wie. Voters will therefore have to make sure they stamp both ballots.

The law under which this petition was circulated and successfully consummated in such a remarkably short time is very explicit, according to Mr. Van Wie, and stipulates that signatures of registered voters totaling 15 per cent of the total number of votes cast at the last election for governor must be obtained on any petition calling for a municipal bond election.

Work All Night
At the election for governor two years ago, 6414 votes were cast in Glendale, of which 962 is the necessary 15 per cent. In obtaining 1992 certified signatures, Mr. Van Wie points out, the necessary minimum was exceeded by 130 votes.

Among those who spent the night in the Los Angeles county registrar's office with Mr. Van Wie, checking the signatures on the petition, were J. E. Barney, O. M. Newby, Alexander Mitchell and Mrs. C. L. Jenkins.

Powder Burns on Army Blouse Are Described

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 3.—Powder burns found on the inner side of the right sleeve of Major Alexander P. Cronkrite's army blouse threatened today to become perhaps the most vital evidence to be submitted in the trial of Roland R. Pothier for the alleged murder of Cronkrite six years ago. Dr. Henry Tucker, physician of Bellevue, Md., was to give further testimony about the powder marks today, following his examination yesterday which revealed that he could not tell whether the spot on Major Cronkrite's blouse was a powder mark or an impression left by a bullet.

NEW STRIKE THREAT
HAVANA, Oct. 3.—The sugar mill workers' strike in Cuba threatened to tie up wheels of industry over the entire island today when officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees indicated in no uncertain terms that they were in sympathy with the walkout.

U. S. AGENTS START RAID ON TICKET SCALPERS

Hundreds of Officers in Drive on Speculators Selling Admissions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Cloudy weather for tomorrow and showers for Sunday was the world's series weather predicted by the United States weather bureau today.

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Hundreds of government agents and metropolitan police descended early this afternoon on the ticket scalpers who have been reaping a rich harvest here during the past forty-eight hours in selling seats for the world's series at prices far in advance of the box office rates.

Dearth of tickets at the ball park opened the way for the operations of the speculators and scalpers. They were "cleaning up" until noon today, when the bureau of internal revenue and police headquarters issued orders simultaneously for the arrest of all scalpers.

Make First Arrest
The first arrest was made shortly after noon. Charles Barnett was taken into custody in his ticket agency on Pennsylvania avenue. Tickets found in the place were seized as evidence and a man who had just purchased one was taken along by police as a witness.

The government agents moved against the speculators under the federal revenue law which provides that all ticket brokers must be registered and licensed by the treasury so that the internal revenue bureau may collect taxes on their profits at the rate of 50 per cent of the amount realized above the face value of the ticket.

Prices Held Up
Police received orders to arrest all scalpers under a municipal law which makes it an offense punishable by a fine of $100, to sell a ticket for more than the price marked on it. A roundup of all scalpers was expected before tonight.

The announcement of the drive against the speculators caused no immediate break in prices, which ranged around $30 and $40 for $16 seats, but there was a noticeable let-up in the sales of the scalpers. The fans, it appeared, were waiting for there would be a break either tonight or in the morning a few hours before the first game.

In the meantime, thousands of reservation holders stood in line at Clark Griffith stadium, waiting for a chance to buy the pasteboards that will allow them to see the Giants meet the Phillies tomorrow afternoon. Scores of women were in line and a number fainted as the ticket buyers surged around the box office.

Ban Johnson Not to Attend World Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, will not go to the world series in Washington.

"I do not care to see the New York Giants play," he said, in explaining why he would not see the games.

Johnson said he cancelled all hotel and railroad reservations today and would remain in Chicago during the entire series. It will be the first world series he has missed for more than twenty years.

Walter Johnson to Pitch For Senators In Opening Game

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The Giants and Nationals engaged in their final practice at Clark Griffith stadium today and thereafter declared themselves all set for the opening game of the world's series tomorrow afternoon. The Nationals used the park this morning and the Giants this afternoon.

After the practice, Bucky Harris, manager of the Nationals, announced that Walter Johnson would pitch the opening game for the Senators and that his other pitchers, Tom Zachary, a left hander, and Fred Marberry, hailed by Johnson as the best young pitcher in the American league this year.

George Mogridge, Harris said, would not be used in the series except in an emergency. Harris also announced that Early McNelly would play in centerfield instead of Nemo Liebhold.

OLD MASTER AND YOUTH IN CLASH

Sport Expert In Favor of McGraw's Generalship to Win World Series

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The dash, fire and insouciance of youth versus the cold, calculating moves of mature consideration.

That is the way the world series between the Giants and John McGraw and the Senators and Stanley Harris appeals to the writer. They happen to be the great extremes of all comparison. Harris, a playing manager, is only 27 years old. McGraw, managing from the bench, is 53 years old.

The series can be no more interesting than for the matching of wits between the fox and the hunter, McGraw being the former and Harris the latter.

The writer happens to favor bench managers over the playing variety. Therefore he strings along with McGraw over Harris, regardless of the tactical moves either or both may have made during the regular season. He just happens to think that a man on the bench, removed from the actual heat of the conflict, can think faster and size up opportunities to better effect than a man who is thrust into the thick of a game.

The McGraw vs. Harris situation is the main reason why I think the Giants will beat the Senators. I think that pitching and the breaks will decide the series, and the Giants have a

INQUIRY INTO SCANDAL TO CONTINUE OFFICIAL ASSERTS

Certain Others Guilty But Admits He Has Not Positive Evidence

By FORD C. FRICK
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—That the O'Connell bribery case was not a closed issue and that the investigation would be continued until every single angle had been run to ground and every culprit discovered and barred from organized baseball, was the emphatic statement made by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis today.

The commissioner minced no words and employed no niceties of speech in discussing the situation.

"It is a dirty mess," he declared, "and I would be remiss in my duty if I would permit the thing to die now. I am convinced that there are other Giant players in the mix-up. Who they may be, I don't know, and right now there is no evidence which would point to them. But I'll find out and when I do they will be cleaned out of baseball without mercy and without compunction."

Two questions were put to the commissioner. The first one was this: "On what evidence did you give Frisch and Young and Kelly a clean bill of health after their names had been mentioned in the O'Connell confession?"

The answer was equally direct. "Accepts Denial
"I accepted their absolute denial as the truth," he said. "Lacking other evidence, it was the only thing to do. Implication in a case of this kind in baseball is suicide and I would be unfair to these men and to baseball if I should hold them guilty without definite evidence."

The other question was: "Do you think there were other men implicated, other than O'Connell and Dolan?" Here again the commissioner was emphatic.

"I certainly do," he replied, "and this case will never be closed until I have uncovered those other guilty ones and barred them forever from baseball."

For a moment the judge smiled. "Don't misunderstand me," he said. "I don't believe that that attempt at bribery was the plot of vicious minds. I think it came

CROWDS SEE DOBINSON PLAYERS

Praise Efforts to Present Best In Spoken Drama To Local Audiences

The Tuesday Afternoon club and Mrs. Florence Dobinson have joined hearts and hands in presenting to Glendale a series of splendid dramatic entertainments, the first of which, George M. Cohan's "A Prince There Was," is now being given by the Dobinson Players in the club theatre at Lexington drive.

This association between women's clubs and theatrical producers is full of promise for future amusements. Since communities have taken an interest in producing plays and in fostering them, there is new promise of the development of what is best on the American stage.

It is this fine type of drama that the Dobinson Players are to present four days each week in Glendale. The company is a group of professionals, several of whom are residents of Glendale.

Mrs. Dobinson, general manager, has long been identified with the Shakespearean drama. She has a broad knowledge of dramatic literature and has trained for the stage many actors and actresses who have won distinction. For a season or two she has presented plays at universities and as part of important club programs.

But, this does not mean that the new company of Dobinson Players is a "highbrow" organization. Club women who have tried to uplift the drama by encouraging productions of Maeterlinck, Wedekind and Schnitzler, have learned that the public goes to the theatre to be amused and not to be educated. Therefore, the latest effort is to encourage wholesome, clever, high class plays that will draw together all the best elements that compose a community.

Delightful Comedy

"A Prince There Was" is a delightful comedy, featuring John Vosburgh, a professional actor of wide experience. Then there is Mary L. Alpaugh, an ingenue of charm. Miss Gertrude Kellar, a favorite comedienne, Marie Gray, Gertrude Rothe, Thyrus Ruhland, William Harvey Stephens, George

REPUBLICANS TO AROUSE VOTERS

Local Headquarters Will Be Opened Next Week and Workers Assigned

Republican headquarters will be opened next week at 220 South Brand boulevard. It was decided at the meeting of the Sixty-first assembly district, held at the Harvard High school, John Robert White, president of this district, presided at the meeting.

The decision to open local headquarters was followed by pledges from certain of the many loyal Republicans present at the meeting, to take a particular precinct or precincts and work for a big partisan vote at the presidential election of Tuesday, November 4.

John Robert White sounded the keynote of the meeting when he declared: "We may have an inefficient government for four years and still survive—but when you propose to take away the American constitution, then you can have no more government than prior to 1789, when this present government came into being."

District Speakers

Colonel H. L. Maxson of Eagle Rock, one of the engineers under General George Goethels during the construction of the Panama canal of Theodore Roosevelt, ably represented his end of the Sixty-first assembly district, urging that Democrats join with Republicans in defeating La Follette for the presidency and concluding with a reiteration of Abraham Lincoln's famous adage: "Don't swap horses while crossing a stream."

Colonel Maxson was preceded by Grove Ketchum of Burbank, W. J. O'Brien of Highland Park, Earl Killian of Lankershim, Louis Duni of Echo Park and other representatives of the district, in a series of brief talks that livened the program.

W. E. Evans, vice-chairman of the Republican Central committee and delegate from the Sixty-first assembly district to the Republican national convention at Cleveland in June, then gave some sidelights on the convention that named President Calvin Coolidge as the Republican choice for the

Comment

By GIL A. COWAN

Again professional baseball is wracked by charges of attempted bribery. And how futile it all appears, when one has read through the columns of subject matter. Indeed, it would seem that the whole affair was an effort of "Cozy" Dolan to make himself solid with John McGraw. And, if that should prove the case, it might be well for baseball that such an inferior coach be barred from the national pastime. One cannot help pity Jimmie O'Connell who has been given the "goat" role beyond a reasonable doubt.

The Dobinson players in the Club theatre are keeping up interest here in the spoken drama by the presentation of a stock company with many admirable players. The Glendale public has demonstrated it would patronize both plays and photoplays "at home" when they are of similar quality and equally as well presented as in the nearby metropolis. There are four theatres and more in the building.

Traffic conditions considered, not to mention expense of motoring to the city, parking, and loss of time, local people should cultivate the habit of attending the theatre in Glendale.

Following the markets is a science in itself, but the casual observer at this time would find grains reaching new high levels, cotton firm, bonds active and the general run of listed stocks bullish despite predictions to the contrary.

Economic conditions in America today, outside of a few centers, are very good, and this prosperity will be reflected in Southern California between December 1 and May 1, the tourist season. Be prepared.

The satisfaction of music to mortals is ably demonstrated by the songs sung at service clubs. Rotarians yesterday enjoyed a full program of quartet and ensemble numbers which was acclaimed as a most worthwhile diversion from the routine of business.

Every child should get a liberal training in singing, particularly the folk songs and patriotic melodies.

A CHURCH—
—Does not claim to be made up of perfect people.
—Has no copyright on hypocrisy.
—Does not make morals—it only teaches them.
—Makes all the other property in town worth more.
—Can't build a perfect world out of left-over loyalties.
—Doesn't need your criticism as much as your co-operation.

GLENDALE PROGRESSIVE AND INTELLIGENT

There are no more progressive people anywhere in the United States than the people of Glendale. They have never refused to provide for the city's needs when they were convinced that these needs were real.

The editor of The Glendale Evening News well remembers how nobly the people responded when asked to vote bonds for a municipally owned lighting plant back in the early history of Glendale, and how, a few years later they gave their sanction to the plan to take over the privately owned water plants of the city and voted bonds for the purpose. Our new and beautiful high school building, one of the finest and best in the country, alone could refute the charge that the people of Glendale are unprogressive, should such an accusation be made. And, it has not been an apathetic or a niggardly spirit that has voted bonds, time and again, for city school purposes, nor were the people of Glendale either penurious or lethargic when they authorized an expenditure of over a million and a half dollars for a sewer system. The large, modern churches dotted over the city are another proof that the people are alert to provide the best, and when, on September 30, bonds were voted for improved fire equipment, they indicated that they were not opposed to the needs of the city or unconcerned about them.

The Citizens' Bond committee, after giving much time and thought to the matter for which they were appointed, and after they had called for and received suggestions, made up a program of improvements requiring bond issues. Everything it was thought might be needed in the next few years was included in the bond budget.

Different sections of the city favored certain of these measures, some civic organizations were interested in the success of some, and individuals were eager to have certain ones pass, but the people in general did not see the need of all of them, and the people have the deciding voice. And, it was good business on the part of the people not to bond the city for an additional $1,700,000.

But now, since the smoke has been cleared away after the recent election, and it is possible to have placed on the November ballot the question of a bond issue totaling $650,000 for a civic center which will furnish a place for a beautiful park, centrally located, and also a very suitable location for the municipal offices of Glendale, it would seem like good business to support the measure and get for the city a much needed central park and recreation grounds.

This block of valuable land is now the property of the Glendale Union High school district, and the purchasing of it by the city means that the money paid for it would pass into the hands of the members of the high school board to be paid out for school improvements, and thus save the taxpayers voting additional money for the improvements thus cared for.

Considering the price of real estate on Colorado and Brand, the price for which the property is offered is very reasonable. Voters should look this property over and decide for themselves as to the merits of the proposition.

BEWARE OF UNNECESSARY LAWS

Impractical laws are not only useless but detrimental as well. They are not only a burden on the statute books but often they are not enforced, and a law that is not enforced cheapens all other laws. In fact, there are those who have given the subject much thought and study, who do not hesitate to declare that the much-talked-about, present-day disregard for law is due to so many useless and unenforced laws. A law is a law, and if we are not under obligations to observe all of them, the bars are down and other good laws are broken, also.

So the greatest care should be used not to propose laws or ordinances that are not necessary and practical, and legislative bodies should use their best judgment in the consideration of all laws and ordinances proposed. There is expense involved in putting an ordinance through and in keeping it on the ordinance books, and often, if it is an impractical law, it involves considerable expense in enforcement, for such laws often have for their sole purpose the giving of employment to some one.

The city of Glendale now has on its ordinance books many laws that are worthless and are not being enforced, and yet there is scarcely a meeting of the City Council but some one presents an ordinance for which, in the majority of cases, there is no need.

A recent instance of this kind was the presentation to the council of an ordinance, now awaiting adoption, governing the barber shops of Glendale. This was entirely unnecessary and involved great expense not only to the city in passing and administering the ordinance, but also to the barbers, making the conduct of their business under its terms almost prohibitive.

OUR MORAL CODE

A family recently took into its home an orphan boy of 15. They were splendid, kind hearted people, not so very well-to-do, but they felt it their Christian duty to give this boy a home and make him one of the family. He had had no home training and some of his habits shocked them very much. For instance, the family circle held no delights for him in the evening. (Some boys who have always had good homes have been known to feel the same way). He had always found his companions on the street, but his new parents thought it a sin for him to continue to do so. They were eager to have him acquire good habits, which was praiseworthy, but they encouraged him to lie about his age so that he could hold a job. They could not afford to support him and send him to school, but they banked, for him, what he did not need for his personal expenses. They were entirely unselfish in everything they did for him, but in regard to his conduct they choked at a gnat and swallowed a camel.

It is very easy to have a code of morals that are observed strictly and conscientiously. We do not overstep them ourselves, and if others do so we tremble for their souls. But, it is easy, too, to make reservations, to eliminate from our rules of conduct those things we find it expedient to do. And, often these exceptions are more iniquitous than the rules we observe so conscientiously. Human nature has never entirely grown up.

Women are looking younger every year, but it costs them more every year.

Mr. General Public is forced to listen now, but November 4 he will speak.

HIS FAVORITE SONG

The Growth of the City

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The growth of any city seems to be under the control of a power not of itself. No one can tell how it is going to grow or in which direction it is to grow. There would be much profit in real estate if one knew.

It seems strange that most of the repairs in the roads of a city appear to take place at the time when they are being used the most. In London, for instance, during the summer when the city should have been at its best for its thousands of visitors and just at the time when travel was at its highest peak of the year, street work seems to have been feverishly active. Going along its main streets from the Marble Arch to Ludgate Circus, one is confronted by a continuous series of holdups, where workmen, indifferent to the traffic about them, are digging up the road.

One relates a good story which has been heard lately. A young man was entertaining his mother-in-law at the height of the summer season. In order to impress her deeply with the wonders of London he hired a motor car for an afternoon's drive. They went to all the interesting parts of the city and wherever they drove they were met by the usual red barriers which held them up for several minutes. Finally on the way home, along Regent street, they discovered that every other building was covered with scaffolding for remodeling. When they arrived home the young man said: "Well, mother, what do you think of London?" After thinking for a moment, the old lady replied: "Well, my boy, I think it will be nice when it is done."

Continual alterations are being made in the great capitals of the world. Fifth avenue in New York and the Champs Elysees in Paris are being invaded by shops and there are those who prophesy that soon they will cease to be residential districts.

It is a curious thing that the underworld, or the tenderloin or whatever you call it, meaning the disreputable portion of the city, is usually to be found between the business and the residence districts.

The reason for this is that the people of this kind are usually very transient, do not like long leases and are very temporary in their stays. More and more the residence portion of any city is being thrust into the suburbs.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1820
When, after four years of serene administration, Monroe came up for re-election not a single electoral vote was chosen against him. The usual congressional caucus was called, but so few attended that no action was taken. Monroe was accepted by the count-informally but unanimously—an honor never attained to before or since by any one except Washington. In the electoral college a single vote was cast against him, the elector from New Hampshire who cast it explaining his action by saying that he was unwilling that any presidential candidate should equate Washington by receiving a unanimous vote. Tompkins came in for vice-president again; but received 218 votes only to his chief's 251, six electoral votes being cast for "favorite sons." Robert G. Harper of Maryland, Daniel Rodney of Delaware and Richard Ruch of Pennsylvania, while Massachusetts cast eight votes for Richard Stockton of New Jersey for the second place—all these votes were complimentary. Tompkins's re-election, like that of Monroe, was a foregone conclusion. And if oblivion has cast a shade over the face of Tompkins it has cast a deeper shadow over the names of the men who nominally opposed him. Monroe's second administration, like his first, was one long sweet dream—the most placid ever vouchsafed to a president of these United States, and his eight years of office are known in history as "The era of good feeling."

Nothing of importance took place except the promulgation of the "Monroe doctrine" in his second term. There was, indeed, one little discordant note heard for a brief time in the universal hymn of peace and brotherly love—a fierce wrangle in Congress over the slavery question when Missouri applied for admission as a state. But Henry Clay fixed that up with his "Missouri compromise," which was supposed to settle the slavery issue forever. Think of it! Peace and prosperity, all the nation of one political faith, all disagreeable domestic questions settled. Yet the ruler of this happy time went out of office with his fortune utterly exhausted and, after trying in vain to support himself as a justice of the peace in his native Virginia, had to be taken care of by his son-in-law in New York, at whose home he died.

LONG, LONG WAYS
A man came running down the pier just as the steamer was starting. The boat having moved off seven or eight feet, he took a flying leap and landed on the steamer head first. He lay stunned for two or three minutes, and when he came to the boat had gone nearly a quarter of a mile. Raising his head and looking back, he exclaimed: "What a jump!"

Today's Poem

"I FEAR NO POWER A WOMAN WIELDS."
I fear no power a woman wields
While I can have the woods and fields.

With comradeship alone of gun,
Gray marsh-wastes and the burning sun.

For aye the heart's most poignant pain
Will wear away 'neath hail and rain.

And rush of winds through branches bare
With something still to do and dare.

The lonely watch beside the shore,
The wild-fowl's cry, the sweep of oar.

The paths of virgin sky to scan,
Untrod, and so uncursed by man.

Gramercy, for thy haunting face,
Thy charm of voice and lissome grace.

I fear no power a woman wields
While I can have the woods and fields.

—ERNEST McGAFFEY.

AT THE POLL
Tell me not in mournful numbers
Davis is a Wall Street man,
That La Follette never slumbers,
But will get what votes he can.

The fight is real, the fight is earnest,
The presidency is the goal.
Unknown thou art, unknown returneth
Will be spoken at the poll.

The widower snorted.
"It wouldn't be any use," he replied. "You couldn't get them on."

TALL AND SHORT
"Can you give me a good description of your absconding cashier?" suavely asked the detective.

"We-ell," answered the hotel proprietor, "I believe he's about five feet five inches tall and about $7000 short."

Who's Who

Secretary of War Weeks has recommended the promotion of Brigadier General Douglas MacArthur to the rank of major general, effective January 17 next, to fill the vacancy which will occur with the retirement of Major General Charles G. Morton on January 15.

General MacArthur is the youngest general officer in the army, having been in his forty-first year when he was appointed a permanent brigadier in January, 1920. At present he is in command of the Twenty-Third Infantry Brigade, Fort William McKinley, in the Philippines. Before assuming this command he was superintendent of the United States Military academy at West Point.

There was a bit of flurry when the late President Wilson sent to the Senate the nomination of Gen. MacArthur as a brigadier. It was contended that officers of longer service should be promoted first. The war record of MacArthur was such, however, that the opposition was short lived when the president and the then secretary of war, Newton D. Baker, stood pat.

Adjutant general Davis, who holds the rank of major general during his term of office, is four years the senior of general MacArthur and the youngest major general now in the army. General Davis is a permanent brigadier.

In gas stoves the Pioneer and Superior gas ranges will be featured. They are manufactured by Bridge, Beach & Co. of St. Louis, since 1837, over three-quarters of a century, and they fully guarantee their product. An idea of the variety of styles on display may be indicated from the fact that 150 different patterns of gas, wood and coal ranges and heaters will be kept in stock.

Experts in Business
J. W. Frazier, who resides at 208 South Louise street, one of the members of the firm, who, for the past few months, had been sales manager of the Penn Motor Co., was formerly manager of the Lohman Bros. Hardware store at 232-34 South Spring street, Los Angeles, where he personally purchased stoves and heaters in car-load lots direct from eastern factories for Lohman Bros.' wholesale and retail trade. Prior to that he had had extensive hardware experience in the East, entering that line of business directly after leaving school.

Convenient Credit In Repairing Automobiles

Something entirely new in convenient credit for the auto owner is what H. C. Ferguson, proprietor of the Central garage, 220 South Brand boulevard, (rear) entrance on the alley by Harvard High school on Colorado boulevard, just east of South Brand, is now starting. Mr. Ferguson states that convenient credit when rightfully used is a boon to any one and with the convenient terms of six months to pay for auto repair job, accessories or supplies it will become popular.

The Central garage is well equipped to do repair work for all makes of cars. Skilled workmen who have long been in the business are employed. There will be no distinction, Mr. Ferguson states, between the cash customer and the customer who desires convenient credit. Everyone is accorded the same courteous, careful attention. All kinds of accessories and supplies for the auto may also be purchased on this plan and Mr. Ferguson says positively there will be no "red tape" to which the customer will have to subject himself.

Veterans Organize In Republican Campaign

Hundreds of ex-service men in California are now rallying around the standard of President Coolidge and General Dawes, according to Buron Fitts, state chairman of the Republican Veterans' league and chief deputy district attorney of Los Angeles county. Mr. Fitts has established headquarters in San Francisco for the Northern California section of the league, with George J. Hatfield, San Francisco attorney, in charge, and headquarters in Los Angeles for the Southern California division, with J. W. McKinley, a Los Angeles attorney, in charge.

Mr. Fitts and Mr. Hatfield are now in the field organizing militant campaign committees in every county in Northern California. Mr. McKinley has organizations functioning in Los Angeles, Riverside, San Diego and San Bernardino counties and is now working to get units operating in Orange, Kern, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties.

Following is a list of cities in which veterans have organized with the names of chairmen for the community groups: Pasadena, Harold Landreth; Hollywood, Harold Ferguson; San Pedro, Lloyd Nix; Puente, John R. ## Executive Committee Of Drive Thanks News

George D. McDill, general chairman of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. drive, has sent the following self-explanatory communication to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News:

"My dear Mr. Cowan—The executive committee of the Glendale Young Men's Christian Association building fund campaign desires to express to you, and through you to the organization of The Glendale Evening News, their sincere appreciation of the uniform courtesy of your employees and the wide publicity given our campaign through the columns of The Glendale Evening News.

"While the campaign objective of $275,000 was not fully reached, being short at this time about $42,000, we feel that the measure of success attained is due in no small degree to the help given by your paper.

"The executive committee is encouraged to believe that the financial success of the campaign will be realized within the time limit, as printed on the pledges, and we therefore bespeak your continued courtesy until the goal is attained. Again thanking you, we are,

Tries Kellogg's Bran—restores health after 12 years of intense suffering

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Gentlemen:
For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time.
I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day.

The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will not relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine.

Yours for success,
William Firth, Jr., 66 Volan St., Merchantville, N. J.

Eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. The flavor is delicious. Try it in the recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

DR. HARROWER IS BACK FROM TRIP

Condition In England Bad
As Result of Labor
Rule, He Says

Conditions in England, both in the political and business world, are in a deplorable condition at the present time, according to Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who returned yesterday from a four months' trip abroad. There are over a million and a half persons out of employment in Great Britain at present, according to Dr. Harrower, and the "La Folletteism" that has reached that country has served to place it in a state of uproar.

"There is at the present time a disease among residents of that country known in the medical world as 'ego-mania,'" Dr. Harrower asserts. "In the words of some, this is known as 'swell head,' and it is something which tends to cause a sort of craze among the people. The same conditions seem to exist in Germany, and the reason is that the soviet government is based on mental aberration."

Long on Promises
"The Labor government in England is similar to that connected with promises of the La Follette campaign—long on promises, but short on deliveries."

Dr. Harrower reported an unfavorable condition relative to railroad accommodations from New York to Glendale, when he attempted to check his trunks to this city and found there was no accommodation via the Union Pacific.

Being a stockholder in that organization, he is naturally interested in seeing service rendered to Glendale, and the matter will probably be taken up to secure it.

Quick Trip Home
Dr. Harrower made a record return journey, leaving England on Saturday and arriving in Glendale Wednesday, a total of ten days. The return voyage was made on the "Mauretania," said to be the fastest liner afloat.

He states that he is glad to be back in Glendale, and that work will be started at once for a new clinic for Glendale, which he hopes to have ready for use at an early date.

MUSIC CO. SALE IS BIG SUCCESS

Payment of $10 Will Be Receipt for $100; Radio
Department Grows

The big sale which is being held by the Glendale Music Company at its store, 118 South Brand boulevard, is proving very successful, much of this success being due to the large four-page advertisement which appeared in a recent issue of The Glendale Evening News. The sale started Friday, September 27, and will end next Saturday, October 11. During the sale, the sum of $10 gives a receipt for $100 on the surplus stock of pianos and a lamp, bench, and scarf are given free with the purchase of a piano.

J. E. Kinnard, manager of the piano department, has replenished his stock of pianos, including players and grands, on the entire second floor in order to be able to meet any demands made upon his stock during the coming week.

The radio department is growing rapidly, demanding more space, and a new radio room and additional display space has been added, and so great is the growth of this department that additional help had to be secured.

Andrew A. Bennie Residence Burns Through Time Lost In Alarm

Fire early last night totally destroyed the home of Andrew A. Bennie at 1140 Allen avenue, causing a total loss of approximately $1500, according to the estimate of Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department, who responded to the call with a crew from Station 1.

Captain Thomas V. Philip of Station 3 was also summoned with a crew and the two companies succeeded in confining the blaze, which might otherwise have set fire to houses on both sides of the Bennie home.

Hears Fire Noise

The blaze was discovered by Mr. Bennie at 8:30 o'clock, while he was in the garage. Hearing the crackling of flames, he turned to see his property wrapped in flames. Mrs. Bennie meanwhile was calling at a neighbor's house.

Rushing to a phone, Mr. Bennie attempted to get the Glendale fire department, but, owing to the service in this district, was first obliged to call the Burbank fire department.

Loss of Time

By the time the call was relayed to the Glendale fire department vital minutes had been lost, according to Chief Lankford, who states that when his men arrived on the scene it was too late to do anything but attempt to prevent the spread of the blaze to other homes in the vicinity.

The garage of the Bennie home was scorched but not burned, he states, and the adjoining houses to right and left were slightly scorched. The cause of the fire is unknown.

All Diseases Due to Poisons

Ninety-five per cent of disease is due to poisons accumulating in the system; some pay from $1.00 to $5.00 per gallon for contaminated water—water containing alkali, limestone, magnesite, gypsum, rock, etc., in solution, hoping to find a remedy for auto-intoxication.

The U. S. Government has condemned all claims that mineral or spring water has curative qualities as "false and fraudulent."

Puritas, a soft, mineral-free water, absorbs poisons and removes impurities from the system; Puritas flushes the kidneys, and cleanses the blood. It is invaluable in aiding nature to overcome high blood pressure, kidney and bladder troubles, hardening of the arteries, toxic and acid conditions, auto-intoxication, rheumatism and toxemia.

Ask the delivery man for instructions regarding the use of Puritas; free booklets and information.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Oct. 3.—La Crescenta branch of the Los Angeles county free library loaned 784 books during the month of September, 300 adult, 234 juvenile and 173 magazines. Twenty-one new applicants filled out membership cards during the month of September.

The council system has been inaugurated at the La Crescenta school. Two councilors, a boy and a girl, have been chosen by popular vote from upper grade rooms to confer with the supervisor, T. A. Blanford on the needs of the pupils for various things in athletic work particularly. Councilors conferring with Mr. Blanford from the eighth grade are William Kay and Marjory Wildhack; seventh grade, Siegel Swain and Beatrice Long; fifth grade, Clarence Hamilton and Belle Gray; sixth grade, Woodson Hendrix and Marion Biescar; fourth grade, Russell Johnston and Violet Findlay.

Little Margaret O'Brien is very ill at her home on West Altura street with typhoid fever.

A large and enthusiastic group of mothers met at the La Crescenta school Wednesday afternoon for the opening Parent-Teacher association meeting of the season. The meeting was called to order promptly at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. C. W. Angier, who called on each of the chairmen of the various committees to give an outline of their work for the coming year. The following chairmen gave reports of their individual committee work: Mrs. Montague Cleaves of the cafeteria committee, said an endeavor would be made to have each child buying school lunches have one green vegetable, also to have hot dishes during the cold weather. At present there is being served at a minimum cost to each child, two hot dishes and one dessert, also whole wheat bread and butter, milk and "400," a cold chocolate preparation. For 20 cents a child is able to procure a substantial lunch full of food value as the menus are being worked out under the direction of Mrs. Cleaves.

Mrs. Cleaves also informed the mothers that the services of the Anita Baldwin clinic in Los Angeles were only available for those who are unable to secure the services of a doctor and that the financial standing of any one applying for assistance to the clinic would be rigidly investigated. Any one knowing of such cases, however, is asked to refer them to the clinic where they will receive proper care. In the matter of a school dentist Mrs. Cleaves did not have a full report from Dr. Pomeroy's office, but was sure the school would prepare a room for his use should one be provided for the district.

Mrs. A. Smith of Highway High-Highlands will take charge of the program for the year. Mrs. M. Tiliary will be glad to hear of any cases in the valley needing the attention of the Philanthropic department, and she can be reached at her home, 316 East Altura street, just off Rosemont avenue. Any one having clothing or food to give this department can leave it in charge of Mrs. Tiliary, who will distribute it to the most needy cases of whom there are several in the valley.

Mrs. Eudoxie Hall is the sole curator of the reading circle which was formed at the meeting with an initial membership of fifteen members. The meetings will take place every Wednesday at 11 a. m., and for the first month will be held at the home of Mrs. Tiliary on East Altura. The women will bring sandwiches, the hostess providing the tea. Members will read till 12, then lunch, resuming the reading till 2 p. m. Under this department there will be established a Parent-Teacher association. A reading shelf in the Los Angeles county free library at the corner of Los Angeles and Montrose avenue, where any mother may procure the books recommended by the circle for home reading.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow gave a short resume of her work as publicity chairman for the year. A splendid talk on Parent-Teacher association work in its different branches was given by the guest of honor, Mrs. E. Lynch, president of the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association, after which Mrs. E. Smith accompanied by Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald, sang

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Oct. 3.—The City Trustees have tabled the proposed parallel parking ordinance until December 16, by a vote of 3 to 2. Mayor J. C. Crawford siding with Trustees Nielsen and Jackson for laying the measure over.

On the original passing of the ordinance Trustees Watson and Mullins voted "yes" and Nielsen and Jackson "no," with Mayor Crawford casting the deciding vote for the proposition.

It developed during the session at which this action was taken that there had been a tentative promise made by Trustee Mullin to business men opposed to the ordinance, that it would go into effect not earlier than January 1.

Mayor Crawford cast the deciding vote in favor of tabling on the theory if it were not to go into effect until January 1 there was no need of passing it at this time.

W. G. Boskowitz is using a pair of crutches, on account of a very sore foot which resulted from having a hand truck, loaded with steel, run over the foot while at work at the Pacific Electric freight depot.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Morgan of Grinnell avenue have returned home from a short stay in San Francisco. They left here last Friday for the northern city.

G. S. Roach of 260 North Palm avenue, accompanied by Mrs. Roach's mother, Mrs. J. L. Robinson, has left for Guadalupe, where they will visit with Mr. Roach's sister, Mrs. L. F. McClellan. They expect to be gone a week.

On behalf of the troop, which is Troop No. 8 of Glendale, Jack Coleman, senior patrol leader, presented the council with an American flag, a birthday gift. Following the presentation the national anthem was played on the saxophone by Frankie Howe, accompanied at the piano by Charles Hirt. The Scouts also presented a silver, engraved card case to the retiring grand knight, Jesse E. Smith. This gift was presented by Scoutmaster F. R. Wallace.

Another gift received by Mr. Smith was a watch charm, presented for the council by Hugh Bryan. Later refreshments were served under the direction of Hugh Bryan.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

REDUCING DURING PREGNANCY during the whole period of pregnancy is enough to allow for the weight of the baby and the after birth, and so forth. If the mother is overweight, a diet which maintains the weight at the last four months would indicate a loss of weight in the mother. It is highly important not to gain excessively because it has been proven that convulsions of pregnancy are very often the result of overeating. Of course, you should be under the care of a physician during this period and visit him every month during the first six months, twice a month the next two months and once a week (or oftener, if necessary) the last month.

"I sent for your booklet on reducing about five months ago, and at that time I weighed 195 pounds but now I weigh 190. I am five feet, four inches tall and am 24 years old. So I'm about 60 pounds overweight. Now, what I'd like to tell you is this: When I sit for any length of time, I have a hard time getting up again. I have that awful tired feeling. If I should get up suddenly, it seems that something drops off the end of my spine. No matter how many pillows I sit down on, it doesn't make the least bit of difference.

"If I am pregnant, is it all right to bathe in the sea? I will wait for your answer in the next column, as patiently as I can, and in return receive my most grateful thanks and best wishes for further good work—Mrs. S."

Yes, it certainly is better to lose at the small rate of one pound a month than not to lose at all and the probability is that if you were not on a diet, you would be gaining. However, why not cut down your calories a little more and so lose a little more rapidly?

The pain at the end of your spine is probably some chronic inflammatory condition around or of the coccyx, the last bone at the end of the spine. Has some one pulled a chair out from under you? Are you constipated? Have an examination to determine that and the possibility of your pregnancy.

If you are pregnant it will be all right for you to go sea bathing, at least up to the last month, if the waves do not buffet you around too much.

If you are with child, be very careful in your dieting to cut down only on your fats and sweets and excess bread and butter. Include at least a quart of milk in your diet—that's 640 calories. If you take a quart of whole milk, you need not worry if you don't get any butter, providing you have liberal helpings of the green leaf vegetables. If you take skim milk, you may take one or two level tablespoonsful of butter. One level tablespoonful is 100 C. Eat liberal amounts of greens and other vegetables, and fruit, especially cottage cheese, nuts and eggs, particularly egg yolks.

When a mother is normal in weight, a gain of 15 to 25 pounds

Hear President

"Co-operation and Organization" was the topic upon which Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher association, spoke at the meeting of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association, held at the school yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Spradling told of the federation voting $1000 for the Y. M. C. A. building and also spoke of the civic center petition, which is being circulated to put the issue on the November ballot. The petition circulated at the meeting was signed by the majority of women present. The meeting was opened with the usual patriotic salute to the flag and with the singing of one verse of "America." Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale, president, presided.

Allen Spurr, of Alhambra, was present, and played his song, officially adopted by the Parent-Teacher association, the name of which is "Just the P. T. A." Mr. Spurr composed the song and it has been adopted by several states as the official P. T. A. song. Mrs. E. D. Morris was entertained with vocal numbers and was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Margaret Curtis. Mrs. Frank O. Stone, principal of the school, gave an interesting talk on "Child Training."

A contest is held each month and the room having the best representation at the meeting is winner. The room winning the contest this month was Mrs. Farley's, twelve mothers of children in her room attending the meeting. Miss Heiderman's room was second with ten mothers of children in her room present. Each room has as a prize the privilege of having a picture in the room during the next month.

Plans were made for a tea which will be held in the home of Mrs. A. R. Holland, at 483 West Maple street, Thursday, October 16. Members of the organization plan to hold social meetings once a month.

At the executive board meeting held preceding the program, the resignation of Mrs. Harry J. McMullen, vice-president, was respectfully received and accepted. The reason for Mrs. McMullen's resignation was the fact that she is moving from the district. Resignations were also received from Mrs. C. H. Whitney, Mrs. P. A. Kranz, and Mrs. L. C. Denman, who is leaving Glendale.

A nominating committee was appointed by the chairman to fill the vacancies of first vice-president and secretary and election will be called October 16. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. Adelaide Imbler is chairman. She was assisted by Mrs. J. M. Server and Mrs. F. A. Archer.

Club Begins Year

The home coming meeting of the Thursday afternoon club took place at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1433 Santa Monica boulevard, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Carrie Campbell, third vice-president, presided, and welcomed the members back after their three months' vacation. The afternoon's program consisted of readings by students of Miss Hazel Campbell of the Little Players' Studio: Adele Lloyd read, "The Little Red Cradle," and "The Musical Washboard;" Thalia Wilson, "Mickey at the Movies," and "Singing of the Kettle on the Hearth;" the latter being a darkey impersonation, by Ben King. Miss Dorothy Newton played a very pleasing piano selection.

A short business meeting, opening with the flag salute led by Mrs. Hazel Valet, preceded the program. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. M. Server read the minutes of the closing June meeting and Mrs. Valet the minutes of the recent board meeting. A decision was made to hold the second meeting each month in the social rooms of the Tropico Presbyterian church, making it a business meeting combined with social work, and preparations for the annual club bazaar.

Deep regret was expressed by the members when the resignation of the president, Mrs. M. C. Newton, was read. Due to seriously impaired health, Mrs. Newton is forced to relinquish her duties as president, but will continue her membership in the organization. Resignations were also read from Mrs. C. H. Whitney, Mrs. P. A. Kranz, and Mrs. L. C. Denman, who is leaving Glendale.

A nominating committee was appointed by the chairman to fill the vacancies of first vice-president and secretary and election will be called October 16.

Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. Adelaide Imbler is chairman. She was assisted by Mrs. J. M. Server and Mrs. F. A. Archer.

Mothers Assemble

Mothers of Colorado street school were gathered together yesterday afternoon at the first meeting of the Parent-Teacher association under the presidency of Mrs. Frank Parr. Mrs. Parr plans to have the various room mothers serve as hostesses each time, and yesterday the hostesses represented Mrs. Nell S. Zweifel's room. Of special interest and value to the mothers was the reading by Mrs. Penberthy from Anglo Patri's book, "Talks to Mothers." The reading inspired a live discussion in which all participated. Another feature was a paper by the principal, Miss Ida M. Waite, a resume of the work done in the school. Mrs. Ernest R. Tucker gave readings. The next meeting will be held the first Thursday afternoon in November.

Entertains Club

Members of the Double Six Bridge club were entertained in the home of Mrs. F. H. Clark at 608 North Orange street yesterday afternoon at a delightful two-course luncheon served at 1 o'clock. Bridge was a later diversion. The decorations were sweetpeas in pastel shades and cornflowers, these two flowers being arranged in a basket to form the centerpiece at the luncheon table. Three tables of bridge were brought into play during the game and prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. D. McGowan and Mrs. O'Neill Farrell. The club will meet with Miss Eva Brehme next Thursday. Mrs. Roy Harrah was a guest for the afternoon.

St. Mark's Guild

Plans for a rummage sale to be held next week were made at the meeting of St. Mark's Guild, held in the Guild hall yesterday. The place of holding the sale has not yet been decided upon, and it will be announced later. Miss Louise Packer is chairman of the committee arranging for the sale. A pot luck lunch was served at noon. Most of the day was spent in sewing for the bazaar, which will be held November 20 and 21. Plans for the dinner which will be served in the hall October 16 were also made.

Gives Luncheon

Mrs. Rollin Pollock of Dayton court, was a pleasing hostess yesterday when she entertained at a delightful luncheon. Card tables were arranged for the serving of the home were attractively decorated with carnations, dahlias and roses which had been arranged in vases and jardiniere. The guests were Mesdames E. Quinn, Yost, Mrs. Findlay and children, Mrs. Aldridge and children, and Mrs. Nicholson and children.

Canadians Meet

Progressive five hundred games followed the business meeting of the Glendale Canadian club last night in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard. Mrs. J. A. Addison and Mrs. M. Hadsell won the women's prizes, while Richard Addison and Glen Hadsell won the men's prizes. George Porter, president, was in charge of the business hour. Plans were made for a Halloween dance Thursday night, October 16 in the same hall. It is the plan of the club to hold a progressive card party once each month. At a late hour luncheon was served.

Impromptu Party

Mrs. Eugene Drury, of 445 West Lexington Drive was the hostess at a very impromptu, as well as enjoyable beach party in her back garden on one of the hot days which Glendale has been having recently. The guests included close neighbors of Mrs. Drury and they came in bathing suits and succeeded in keeping cool by the generous use of the hose and by wading in the fish pond. Luncheon was cooked on the park incinerator in the yard and served in the pergola. Enjoying this unique bathing party were Mesdames Floyd LeBaron, Ted Worthheimer of Cincinnati; William Delabar, James Hascall, Laurence Delarantus, Mrs. Joel Lindgren and the hostess.

Elect Mrs. Lucas

Mrs. P. O. Lucas was elected general president of the six circles of the aid society of the First Methodist church at the all day meeting held in the church yesterday. Reports from the six circles were given, the first meeting of all the organizations having been held recently. At noon lunch was served and in the afternoon the home and foreign missionary societies convened. The treasurer of the foreign missionary society reported that over $2000 had been expended during the past year, a portion of this being used for foreign missionary work. The next all day meeting will be held November 6.

Women's Society

Members of the aid society of the Central Christian church voted to give the sum of $100 toward the pipe organ fund, when they met at the church yesterday for the weekly all day meeting. Members of the society have already voted to pay $300 into the building fund of the church. Yesterday the members devoted their time to sewing and work was begun on comforters. At noon a lunch was served, each member contributing one dish for the meal.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Len C. Davis of Grand View Memorial park, entertained delightfully yesterday at the Oakmont Country club with a bridge luncheon. There were twelve guests including Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Roof.

To make a Striped Knitted Carriage Ball for Baby, buy one ball each of pale blue and pale pink three-fold Saxony or Shetland wool and one pair of size 2 1/2 bone or celluloid knitting needles. Begin by casting on 35 stitches. Knit one row. Row 2: Knit to within seven stitches of the end of the row, and turn. Row 3: Knit to within seven stitches of the end of the row, and turn. Rows 4 and 5 are each knitted to within the 60 stitch from the end of row. Rows 6 and 7 are each knitted to within the fifth stitch from end of row. Rows 8 and 9 are each knitted to end of row. Rows 10 and 11 are knitted to the last three stitches. Rows 12 and 13 are knitted to the last two stitches, and Rows 14 and 15 are knitted to the last stitch. Knit the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth rows. This completes one section. Change to the other color. Always change the color at the same end. Make eight sections in all. Fill with cotton and sew up. When done, it looks like a melon, with pink and blue stripes alternating. With four strands of yarn held together, crochet a chain the desired length (by which the ball is attached to some part of the carriage). Knitted Striped Play Ball: Materials are one ball each of pink and blue Shetland, three-fold. One pair of either size 3 or size 2 1/2 bone needles (or, if desired, the three-fold Saxony may be used with the 2 1/2 bone needles). Begin by casting on 55 stitches. Knit one row. Row 2: Knit to within the twelfth stitch from end, turn. Row 3: Knit to within 12 stitches from end. Continue as described above for the carriage ball, making eight sections in all, stuffing with cotton in the same way, and sewing up. This play ball is suitable for little folks of 3, 4 and 5 years of age. It needs no attached cord. (Note: It may be possible to make one of these balls from the materials left over from the other, although I have never tried it.)

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the newspaper department will be kept in these columns in their regular reply to the readers' turn. This requires a considerable time, however, owing to the great number of replies received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

WEEKLY LUNCHEON IS PLANNED BY C. C.

City's Business Development Discussed by Directors Of Organization

Industrial interests desiring to locate here, a special council, to be known as the industrial council, was named to investigate certain business concerns seeking location here. Three propositions are up for discussion at the present time. The council will also study plans for the development of Glendale's industrial future. A committee of eleven, representing varied business interests, was named, as follows: S. C. Packer, Packer Motor Co., Inc.; W. L. Truitt, real estate; D. J. Hannah, capitalist; Park Arnold, Bentley Lumber Co.; J. M. Wilson, retail interests; F. B. Ortmann, manufacturing; T. W. Watson, Glendale Planning commission; C. R. Smurr, industrial agent, Southern Pacific Railroad Co.; H. C. Vandewater, city building inspector, and W. E. Rauch, industrial agent, Union Pacific railway.

Discussion of the proposed air mail service for Southern California resulted in the appointment of a committee of three local men to work with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to gather data asked for by the government before airplanes could be assigned for this division. The air mail service out of Los Angeles would go direct to Salt Lake and thence to New York, and would give the southland similar service to that of San Francisco. The committee named to investigate this matter is D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster; Dr. H. E. Harrower and Roy L. Kent.

No Mooseheart Home
A letter from James J. Davis, secretary of labor, in reply to an inquiry sent by Secretary Wood relative to the establishment of a Mooseheart home in Glendale disclosed the information that the Loyal Order of Moose would probably postpone such matter for some time.

The board acted on the matter of a censorship committee to handle solicitation in Glendale in the future, to discourage unknown schemes and to inform the public of the safety of investments sought by outside solicitors. George P. Karr, second vice-president, will appoint a committee of two from the Merchants' association, the Chamber of Commerce and one each from the Auto Dealers' association and the Ad. club.

To Attend Hearing
C. J. Hatz, president of the Merchants' association, and M. B. Towman, local manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California, will attend the hearing before the railroad commission in the matter of establishing an auto stage line between Pasadena and Santa Barbara.

Complaints were made that downtown stores were renting display windows in vacant buildings in Glendale and advertising sales to draw the public there. This was thought to be unfair by some of the local merchants and after discussion directors of the chamber expressed the opinion that the matter would come under an ordinance recently passed by the City Council calling for the posting of a $500 bond and payment of $10 a day for such services.

Alex Mitchell was appointed to represent the chamber at the American Legion Armistice day celebration.

A letter from the mayor and City Council assured the directors that they would handle the next forum meeting of the chamber some time in December.

Various letters from other chambers asking for support on measures to come up at the November election were read and these were turned over to the legislative committee, made up of Bert P. Woodward, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Owen C. Emery, Harry W. Chase, David Black and J. I. Wernette, Emil Keifer and Dwight Stephenson were named on the committee to formulate plans for Naval day, October 27.

Report on Firm
Dr. Henry R. Harrower informed the directors of a bad condition existing relative to purchasing through tickets on the Union Pacific railroad to Glendale and asked if some action could not be taken by the board.

A special committee composed of D. J. Hannah, C. W. Elder and H. L. Finley was asked to consider the matter brought up by the Los Angeles chamber relative to planning areas to accommodate industries. A resolution was drawn up by the neighboring body regarding the construction of industrial buildings all along railroad tracks through the cities of the county.

Julius Kranz, chairman of the industrial committee, presented a report of the I. E. Muller & Co. financing concern of Los Angeles, as the result of a request from the chamber. The report was made following an investigation of the standing of the company, which has financed local concerns.

R. S. Person Points to Wisconsin Situation

Editor The Evening News—If it is true that "misery likes company," our local La Follette friends may take comfort in knowledge of the fact that the Republicans in Wisconsin are in deep distress and without an avenue of escape. In California the La Follette electors are barred from a position on the ballot in the "Independent" column because the statutes in such case made and provided" forbid it. The decision of the California supreme court over which there is an attempt to raise a hullabaloo, was a plain, common-sense interpretation of the law which happens to inflict injury upon nobody, for the names of the La Follette electors will be printed on the ballot in the Socialist column, where they properly belong.

But contrast this with the situation in Wisconsin where the La Follette party went into the Republican convention, obtained control of it by a vote of 68 to 31, elected Robert M. La Follette, Jr., chairman of the "Republican" state committee, endorsed the "Independent" candidates of La Follette and Wheeler, then nominated thirteen Coolidge (?) electors handpicked by the La Follette faction, adopted a platform endorsing the La Follette "principles" and declared La Follette to be the "outstanding statesman of his time."

If the situation in the La Follette ranks in California, when compared with the crucifixion of Republicans in Wisconsin, doesn't look like a garden of roses in luxurious bloom, then our local "Independent" friends must be obsessed with self pity as to preclude the possibility of obtaining comfort in the knowledge that the Republicans in Wisconsin are, indeed, of all men the most miserable.

Keep Central Ave. Partially Open As Paving Being Done

Leading merchants on Central avenue and vicinity have presented a petition to the City Council and the contracting firm handling the improvement on Central avenue to at least keep Central avenue partially open during the broadening and paving of that street. It is to be hoped that some solution to this problem can be worked out—for if the street is completely closed it will work an undue hardship on all stores and property owners.

Piggly-Wiggly Starts New Store Saturday

So successful has business been for the Piggly Wiggly in Glendale that this corporation is opening a new store at 493 S. Los Feliz road, Saturday. W. D. Moffit, superintendent of Southern California stores, has made plans for a wonderful opening, and has secured many attractive features for opening day, featuring the personal appearance of Miss Charlotte Stevens, motion picture star, and the services of the Nish Taxi Service to furnish free transportation to all persons in Glendale wishing to visit the new store. All that is necessary is to phone Glendale 1208, and a taxi will call at your door and bring you back.

In addition to the appearance of Miss Stevens, which is scheduled for 8 o'clock Saturday afternoon, there will be music by an orchestra throughout the afternoon. The company will give $100 in cash prizes to the persons guessing the nearest to the number of persons who pass through the turnstiles on the opening day. Wholesale grocery firms are planning to send demonstrators to Glendale for the opening ceremony and nationally known products will be explained. Hundreds of samples will be given away, it is announced.

Bob Krenbring, who has been connected with the first Piggly Wiggly store in Glendale, will be the manager of the new store. If present plans are materialized, Piggly Wiggly will have a hundred stores in operation in Southern California by January 1.

'SQUEAK' IS OUT

"The Squeak," a clever bulletin of Oakmont Country club affairs and events, was in the hands of every club member today. This interesting publication is to be devoted to the best interests of the club membership and includes a list of new members; "Tee Tales," a golf feature; a financial statement of the club; the social calendar for the month; items of interest about the clubhouse and grounds and social items.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wittemeyer of 437 West Broadway are the parents of a son, born last night, Thursday, October 2, 1924, at the Glendale Research hospital.

So keen is the interest in bathing in England this year that in May, which is usually early for water pastimes, hundreds of temporary dressing tents were constructed at Ramsgate, to accommodate the crowds.

INCREASE IN 'Y' FUND IS URGED

Twenty Per Cent Addition to Subscriptions Asked
At Meeting

An urgent appeal for all members to increase their subscription to the Y. M. C. A. building fund twenty per cent was made by Dr. R. C. Logan at the luncheon of the Optimist club today. The plea resulted in several stating they would do so. It was pointed out by Dr. Logan that should those who have subscribed at present increase their amount the fund would be raised. Reports of the various committee chairmen were heard, the following chairmen of the committees reporting: Dr. R. C. Logan, big brother committee; Fred Hunter, entertainment committee; L. E. Olsen, finance; Dr. C. R. Lusby, music; Dr. G. Kaemmerling, reception; W. P. Potter, attendance; and Eugene Wix, membership.

Dr. H. R. Boyer, president of the club urged the members to get behind the movement to have the civic center proposition placed on the ballot at the November election. It was stated that 2200 signatures had been secured on the petitions to place before the City Council.

P. E. Webb distributed tickets to the Glendale High-Hollywood football game for this afternoon and also announced that the Philharmonic orchestra from Los Angeles would be at the High school October 17. The matter of the selection of pennants and banners for the club was also introduced to be discussed later.

Fred Hunter, chairman of the entertainment committee announced that plans were under way for ladies' night, which will be held a month from today, instead of the regular business meeting.

E. R. Selzer, an Optimist from Cleveland, Ohio, was a guest at the luncheon. L. W. Russell was introduced as the newest member of the club.

Included in the building plans are a billiard room, auditorium 75 by 40 feet, a canteen and other features for the post and auxiliary. Harry Conner is chairman of the building committee.

Commissioner Landis Says

from the brain of damned fools. "And," he added, "that still leaves plenty of leeway for speculation among baseball men."

The judge showed a copy of an editorial advocating the abolition of the world series as the best method of combatting baseball crookedness.

He grew grave as he read it to the end. Then he pounded the table with his clenched fist and his mouth was drawn to a grim, hard line as he spoke.

"That's a delicate measure," he declared, "but if it's necessary, we'll do it. Baseball is bigger than any world's series and bigger than any ball player, and we're going to keep it that way."

McGraw Does Not Journey With Team; O'Connell 'Lost'

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Why John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, continues to remain in New York while his team is in Washington warning up for the first world series game Saturday with the Senators, was a question for which there was no answer today at the office of the New York Nationals' club.

There it was said McGraw had not yet gone to Washington. As to his whereabouts, activities or probable time of departure there was nothing said.

When the team departed yesterday afternoon and McGraw remained behind, the report spread that the manager's presence here had something to do with the O'Connell-Dolan bribery scandal, although McGraw then insisted it was a closed incident insofar as he was concerned.

O'Connell Missing

The whereabouts of Jimmy O'Connell, suspended Giant outfielder, was a mystery today, as the result of the exposure of his part in the attempt to bribe Heinie Sand to throw the Saturday Giant-Phillies game.

O'Connell was missing from his Embassy hotel apartment. About the hotel went a story that, yesterday afternoon, when the Giants departed for Washington, three teammates, taking pity on O'Connell, took him along in a taxicab to the Pennsylvania terminal and smuggled him aboard the train.

O'Connell was very anxious to see Commissioner Landis and convince him he was the "goat" in the bribery attempt behind which, he charged, the whole Giant team stood.

Wives Prostrated

Upon the wives of O'Connell and "Cozy" Dolan, the Giant coach, put out of baseball with him, the hum of scandal bore heaviest today. Mrs. O'Connell still was in bed after her collapse yesterday, when she fainted on hearing of her husband's guilt.

Mrs. Dolan, too, was prostrate in bed. At Dolan's apartment this morning, it was said he was not in, that his whereabouts was not known.

Old Master and Youth Meet In World Series

slight edge in the former and McGraw will make the latter, the way I look at things.

McGraw Is Old Master

He is the master of puppets, the man who pulls the strings. No smarter, more resourceful manipulator of baseball destinies ever lived. Harris may be a great kid manager, a man who has carried a team over one hurdle after another to a pennant, in spite of his more or less tender years; yet I look for McGraw to outsmart him on important issues.

I believe this for more than one reason. I would look for McGraw to outsmart Connie Mack or any other sagacious baseball man in the pinch. I happen to think that he is the smartest, most resourceful leader major league baseball has known throughout the modern era.

But when a man of his character is opposed to a player-manager, the thing becomes a parody. In quick thinking, it seems to me that a bench manager must have it all over the player who is in the heat of battle.

Giants Better Advised

In the matter of grasping the import of situations and taking advantage of them, it would appear that the man who has everything in front of him must have a better and more thorough and succinct idea of what is going on than the man who is forever involved in every mechanical move his team might make.

If you talked forever you couldn't convince the average man that Harris, a mere boy, could hope to compete with McGraw, veteran of thirty years in baseball, as a tactician. But with the boy thrust into the heat of every situation and the man sitting back out of range, the matter seems to be settled in advance. Try as I will, I cannot help but believe that the Giants will be better advised than the Senators. This is one and the main reason why I think the New York team will win.

Of course there is nothing to prevent the Senators from emulating the Boston Braves of 1914. If a team happens to be hitting and has the divine inspiration with which some outfits are favored on occasions, all the brains and all the ability of opposition will be worth exactly nothing. You cannot beat a team that won't be beaten, and for all the writer or anyone else knows, the Senators may be that kind of a ball club.

BODY COMES ASHORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The body of a man identified by police as L. G. Dreyer, 70, of this city, was washed on the beach early today at the foot of Baker street, where Mrs. Adda Daily, taking an early morning walk, discovered it.

WOMAN IS BEATEN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Said to have been beaten with a cane by a neighbor woman, Mrs. J. H. Ruiz, 50, was in a serious condition at her home here today, police reported. Mrs. May Kessler was held in jail as the attacker.

POSTPONE MEET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The annual draft meeting of the national baseball commission scheduled for today, was postponed until Wednesday of next week. It will be held in New York, unless the Senators and Giants are forced to lay over here on account of the weather.

CHAPTER LXVIII

She wanted no companionship; she sought none. Now and then Hilary persuaded her quite simply to attend a woman's lunch, or to slip in quietly to some matinee. Dora obeyed apathetically, her drooping little figure and toneless voice hurting Hilary every time her eyes fell upon her sister. Dora would smile gently at Cy Dwyer, take a hand at bridge, stare dully at someone who addressed her: "I'm sorry, Walt. I didn't hear you." When Craig wanted to go home, and Hilary was in a whirl of goodbyes, Dora would creep quietly into her corner of the limousine, to sit there, silent, her chin in her palm, her eyes fixed upon the passing landscape, for the entire trip.

Her nights were restless, and even her splendid youth began to show the strain in faded color and hitherto unknown physical ills. Her appetite was gone; she had headaches; she never got any sleep, she said. Hilary felt her own heart breaking as she watched the sorrowing change that went on day after day, and saw, too, the pitiful effort Dora made to hide it from the eyes that had noted every trifling thing for good or ill that had ever touched her, her life long. She could not deceive Hilary, try though she would, and something of their old relationship crept back between them when little Butterfly turned away before the library fire, with her shame and suffering to the sister she had wronged and misjudged for comfort.

There was one special day, in itself of no importance, but to Hilary almost unendurably sad and sweet. The sisters breakfasted together, and spent the whole morning talking of insignificant things and sewing in Butterfly's sunny room, lunched together, and afterward went to see Alice's mother, sick in Bellevue Hospital.

All day long Butterfly was her sweetest, a new quiet sweetness that Hilary found poignantly endearing and touching. At luncheon she obediently tried to manage her chop and spinach. Butterfly had had a touch of anemia, long ago, as a child, and Hilary was reminded today of the little obedient hand and the trusting brown eyes of the ten-year-old child. In the big, clean-smelling hospital, walking from sunny ward to ward, Butterfly had talked with the escorting nurse so pleasantly; she had laid her fingers so kindly upon Mrs. Kearney's hand, stained hand, and bent her bright head to hear the hoarse, rasping voice. And then she and Hilary had walked through unfamiliar streets, streets filled with wet noses, and grimy, eager, capable little girls with red hands, and had peeped into odd shops, and bought a pair of Hessian andirons for Mrs. Spaulding, who had a fancy for colonial oddities. The salesman had explained that the New England patriots had fancied their enemies in this form that they might spit upon them at pleasure, and Hilary had the delight of hearing Butterfly's old laugh ring out shakily among the dusty lamp-shades and dimly packed sideboards and bureaus.

If Craig could but see this new Butterfly! cried Hilary's loyal heart. But Craig never saw it. He returned from Mount Holly quiet, self-possessed, unapproachable as before, and Butterfly was her silent, nervous, ghostly little self again.

One night, just after the strangely quiet Christmas holidays, Hilary and Mrs. Spaulding were before the library fire, with Craig at the near-by table, under the lamp, busy over some blueprints of the new Mount Holly packing room. Evergreen wreaths at the windows, and over the high doors, scented the room pleasantly; a drowsy fire crackled and was still, and the clocks ticked in a deep silence. Butterfly had just murmured a good night, and had gone upstairs.

Suddenly, there was a hideous interruption. It began with the most disquieting of all sounds in a quiet house: the pressure of running feet. Then came several words in several voices, and then Alice's scream: "Oh, Mr. Spaulding—Mr. Spaulding!" and the thump of Banks' feet as the butler ran upstairs.

"Get Mr. Spaulding!" came a hoarse voice that Hilary's paralyzed senses recognized as Butterfly's. By this time, after one second of terror in which any movement seemed impossible, they were all running up to Butterfly's room.

She was in her big Chinese wrapper, Alice was crying wildly and holding her; they could hear Banks rattling the hall telephone, they could hear his "There's been an accident at Mr. Spaulding's. If you please, Doctor, for God's sake, quickly!"

"Craig!" Butterfly whispered, with thick lips. Where was her voice—what had changed her face to this ghastly mask of suffering? They got her to her bed. She

THE GATEWAY

Louise Fazenda has a screen personality that has aroused curiosity in various quarters. For eight years she has made people laugh in every corner of the globe. The question is a natural one: "What is she like?"

Louise Fazenda, always billed in dramas as "the comedy relief," is a "relief" whenever she enters a scene in real life. Hers is an artless air, but you can all ways count on Louise Fazenda to create laughter. In her inspired moments, she does more clowning off the screen than on, but again it is tempered and quiet fun. She starts out just like anybody else. Seeing her in a crowd, no one would connect her with the comic. Not for five minutes, possibly ten. Then she does something and everybody is roaring.

Recently the comedienne with a serious-minded dramatic critic and his wife and another friend attended some amateur theatricals. She gave sober faced attention. During the acting of the third play, still seriously attentive, she took her hat and placed it quietly at every angle on her head. Seated at the back of the house where no one could see her but her own party, she had them well on the road to hysterics.

The industry lost a good title writer when Louise Fazenda elected was trying to talk, but the voice was gone. Hilary, sick with terror, tore at counterpane and blankets.

"A mistake!" Butterfly whispered to Craig, "Believe me—believe me, Craig! I wouldn't—I wouldn't have done it! I wanted to sleep—that prescription Bertheau gave me—"

She was writhing on her pillows; great drops shining on her white forehead, her soft hair sticking to the wet skin.

"Ah—that's better!" she whispered, suddenly easier, the dripping hand that had been pressing Hilary's with an iron grip suddenly somewhat relaxing. "Thank you!" she panted, to Craig, who had eased the little figure into pillows. "Too hot!" she breathed, struggling with the heavy robe.

Craig and Hilary stripped it from her, leaving her in the delicate little embroidered nightgown with its pink and blue ribbons. She clung to Craig's hand, her agonized eyes burning in deep purple shadows in her ashen face.

ed to act. Quaint expressions drop from her lips like leaves from a tree. She is always original. There is her serious side, but it is close to the borderland of humor. An admirer once said to her: "There are many duplicates in nature, but there's one thing certain; nature was in no duplicating mood when you were created."

Yes, she is funny and serious, but there is a wonderful understanding about Louise Fazenda, who is always a real person.

"Being Respectable," in which she makes her latest appearance, in a serious role, is, as the title says, the story of a set of people who are the essence of respectability. But, life has a way of flaring out unexpectedly, like a volcano, long asleep, which suddenly belches forth its fatal lava and inundates the peaceful valleys.

This Warner Brothers' classic of the screen is now showing at the Gateway Theatre today and Saturday. The cast, in addition to Miss Fazenda, is composed of Marie Prevost, Monte Blue, Irene Rich, Theodore Von Eltz, Frank Currier, Eulalie Jensen, Lila Leslie, Charles French and Sidney Bracey.

DOMINION PLAYERS

"A Prince There Was" will continue to be presented at 8:15 o'clock nightly by the Dominion Players at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, the balance of this week with a Saturday matinee, and Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday night, of next week, with another matinee next Saturday, according to the plan of the management, states Miss Eva Daniels business manager.

Among the players are John Vosburgh, in the role of Charles Martin, "a prince of a fellow," and Gertrude Keller, as Miss Wood, a writer of stories, which she sells to the "prince," a magazine editor, in exchange for his heart.

Tickets for this play may be obtained at 113 South Brand boulevard during the daytime or at the Tuesday Afternoon club office at night, Miss Daniels states.

COAST FOOTBALL SEASON TO START

Opening Games to Be Played Tomorrow; All Eastern Schools Are Busy

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—With tomorrow marking the opening of the Pacific Coast Conference football season when practically all of the leading contenders for titles in this year will make their initial bow to the public, interest in the autumnal sport was unusually keen because of the expected closeness of the race.

The four-time champion California Bears, their squad badly weakened by graduations and injuries, were scheduled to meet St. Mary's college in the Berkeley stadium in a game which is conceded to be a hard one for the Californians.

Game at Stanford
Glenn Warner's Stanford Cardinals will make their opening bow of the season against Occidental college in the Stanford bowl, the game being an important one to the Palo Alto, because it will give them an opportunity of testing the greatness of the eleven which is hailed in many quarters as the coming champions of the conference.

The U. S. C. squad meets Pomona at Los Angeles. On the strength of the overwhelming victory of Gus Henderson's powerful eleven over Caltek last Saturday, tomorrow's contest is regarded as a walkaway for the larger institution.

Northern Teams

The Huskies of the University of Washington in their first college contest of the season will lock horns with Willamette university at Seattle Saturday with six players on the sick list. Little Willamette, who battled Oregon to a scoreless tie last Saturday, boasts a strong machine and the purple and gold expect a hard battle.

Washington Aggies open the season tomorrow at Pullman with Pacific university. The Aggies should have little difficulty defeating the visiting Oregonians.

A real battle awaits some 5,000 out-of-town visitors to Pendleton this afternoon when the Oregon Aggies clash with Whitman in the season's opener.

Gonzaga and the University of Idaho Vandals are awaiting the opening whistle at Spokane which then into the annual clash. The two teams are regarded as equals by early season dopesters and the game promises to be a thriller.

Eastern Football Season

To Be Opened on Saturday
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—With the big three going into action for the first time and four games scheduled between teams of more than ordinary importance, the 1924 football season will be on in earnest tomorrow.

The biggest games on the card call for meetings between Wisconsin and Iowa State at Madison, Wis.; Nebraska and Illinois at Lincoln, Neb.; Ohio State and Purdue at Columbus, and Pittsburgh and La Fayette at Pittsburgh.

Nebraska, nemesis of Notre Dame, and Illinois, joint holder with Michigan of the Western Conference title, should furnish the fireworks. It is one of the heaviest games ever scheduled in the early season.

Of the big three, Harvard will get under way against Virginia at Cambridge; Yale will play North Carolina at New Haven, and Princeton will take on Amherst at Princeton. The three come under the head of practice sessions.

Others on Schedule
Other games of importance scheduled are: Dartmouth vs. McGill at Hanover, N. H.; Chicago vs. Missouri at Chicago; California vs. St. Mary's at Berkeley; Cincinnati vs. Georgetown at Cincinnati; Georgia Tech vs. Virginia Military Institute at Atlanta; Cornell vs. Rutgers at Ithaca; Northwest vs. South Dakota at Evanston, Ill.; Penn State vs. North Carolina State at Bellefonte, Pa.; Gonzaga vs. Idaho at Spokane, and Syracuse vs. Mercer at Syracuse.

Revenue Agents Will Nab Ticket Scalpers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Arrest of several hundred persons who are speculating in tickets for the world series was ordered today by the treasury department. Twelve o'clock noon was set as the zero hour when agents and operatives of the bureau of internal revenue would descend upon the ticket scalpers with orders to arrest all those who were not registered under the revenue laws as licensed ticket brokers.

Betting Is Brisk In Washington on Games

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Betting was brisk in Washington today, with the Senators ruling a 7-to-5 favorite to take the first game, and a slight favorite to take the series from the Giants. One bet of $11,000 to $10,000 has been placed on the Giants. Most of the bets were of small sums, but "mushroom brokers" along Pennsylvania avenue reported a lively business.

VINCI TURNS IN WIN FOR SOLONS

Young Hurler Blanks Tigers While Teammates Score Trio of Markers

By THREE STRIKES
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Louis Vinci, young Sacramento hurler, held the Tigers helpless in the pinches in yesterday's game and turned in the first Solon victory of the series, 3 to 0. A trio of Bengal moundsmen were used to thwart the efforts of the visitors. Fulton started, but was lifted in the fourth when Hannah was sent in to bat for him. Swanson relieved Fulton on the mound and went two innings, only to be replaced by "Kit" Carson, who easily held the Senators scoreless the rest of the distance.

Twice the Bengals filled the bases and had Vinci in several tight places, but Louis had plenty of stuff in reserve and had no trouble in coming out of a hole.

Holding the Seattle Indians to five mealy bingles, Doc Grandall hurled the Angels to victory yesterday by a 6 to 1 count, which puts the Seraphs in a tie with Oakland for third place.

Portland drove in two runs in the ninth to beat the Seals yesterday 5 to 4.

Salt Lake made it three in a row over Oakland by taking yesterday's tilt 3 to 2.

Britton to Box Krug In New Jersey Ring

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Jack Britton will have the final test placed upon his ambition to come back when he meets Philly Krug in Jersey. The former welterweight champion has been proceeding carefully in his plan to work himself up to the point where he can demand a match with Mickey Walker. He has picked opponents with care and has not had much trouble in out-pointing them.

Britton is so clever that if he retains the stamina to go through twelve fast rounds, he has a chance to gain the decision from a welter who before the public Krug is a rugged, fast working boy who can hit hard, even if he is not a knocker out. If Britton can impress the critics he is Philly's master, the way will be open for him to fight for his title.

It is recalled of Walker that he has not knocked out an opponent in a long time and that was some third rate. The fact is that Mickey is a young bull of a boy who is very hard to hurt, or to slow up. But his blows lack the quick sharp snap that spells knock out. He pounds rather than snaps his blows in.

After he meets Barrett he is due to fight Shade ten rounds to a decision in Philadelphia and there are not a few close observers of the ring game who think he is going to have a hard time hitting the Californian without getting picked a lot himself. In other words, it is felt that in meeting David, Mickey is running a chance of losing his title.

Cooper Wins Fresno Raisin Festival Race

FRESNO, Oct. 3.—Driving one of the greatest races of his career here yesterday, Earl P. Cooper, veteran race driver, added more laurels to his crown when he won the 1924 Raisin Festival 150-mile race on the Fresno speedway, setting a new track record in the victory.

Cooper, a Fresno product, was given a great ovation after his sensational victory which was accomplished only after a great demonstration of nerve and skill. In registering the 150 miles the veteran driver set a pace of 105.65 miles per hour covering the distance in one hour, twenty-five minutes, nine seconds.

Mandell Will Meet Salvadore at Vernon

Phil Salvadore will attempt to stop the sensational sport on in the south by Sammy Mandell, eastern lightweight, who came here recently and has been registering victories ever since. Mandell and Salvadore are matched in the main event at the Vernon fights Tuesday night and this attraction alone promises to be the whole evening's entertainment. Tony Puente, sensational heavy-weight discovered by Fred Winthorpe will box the semi-windup with Jim Goddard, 200-pounder from the bay district.

McLarin and Dolan clash in the special events. Four other events are included on the card.

Lewis Is Home After Victory In Vancouver

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight champion wrestler, is expected to arrive home from Vancouver, Wash., today, where he grappled with a big Hindu named Gobar last week. Lewis successfully defended his title after a sensational match and is now ready to meet Joe "Toots" Mondt in a championship tussle at the Washington ball park a week from Monday night.

Eyes Of World On Him

Baseball fans all over the globe have been watching the work of WALTER JOHNSON for 18 years, and more so the past season, but when he hurls tomorrow's game, the only pair of eyes he will care about will be those of his mother, who made the trip from Coffeyville, Kan., to see her son in action.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—She's the mother of the world's greatest baseball player, but she's never seen him play in a big league game.

But she's just about the happiest mother today for she's going to sit near the home plate in Clark Griffith's stadium tomorrow afternoon and watch her son, Walter P. Johnson, hurl the first game for Washington against the New York Giants.

Mrs. F. E. Johnson came all the way from her son's farm at Coffeyville, Kan., just to see the world series, the first in which Walter will pitch after 18 years in the American league.

"I'm very, very happy over this opportunity that has come to my son, because I think he has earned it," said Mrs. Johnson today laying aside her sewing to talk to visitors.

"I haven't seen Walter play in six or seven years, and then only in unimportant games out home. Although I may miss some of the fine points of the game, I know enough about baseball to get a real thrill out of the game. It's not like football. I've always found that stupid."

"We were all so worried," Mrs. Johnson continued, "for fear that after all these 18 years of big league baseball he might have to retire without ever having had a chance in a world series. He's going to give up playing soon, you know, and now I think this is a good time for him to quit."

ABOUT BASEBALL

By JOHN R. FOSTER
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The world's series of 1924 promises to be one of the most interesting in history, for it will be played between two baseball clubs, which have absolutely refused to consider defeat in the closing weeks of the season.

The Washington Senators, with their 28 year old manager, "Buck" Harris, are a courageous lot of young men. So are the Giants, though not quite so young in spots—led by the redoubtable campaigner, John McGraw.

Washington began showing its bull dog brand of determination away back in the spring training season. They were always coming from behind and winning in their games, down at Tampa. The Giants beat them tossed their heads and essayed to predict "They'll find their places when the season starts, all right." They did find their place all right—but not where their detractors meant.

Two characteristic and far reaching statements were made in Florida last April about these two clubs that have finished at the top in their respective leagues. McGraw said:

"We have got a team that will win if the pitchers show any thing." That's more than McGraw usually says. And now it can be seen that he had reason for his little speech.

About the same time, Clark Griffith stood on the porch of the big tavern at Tampa, hemmed and hawed a little, and then said: "You know me well. I've got to be shown something, but those boys of mine are not going to be kept out of the first division."

There are National league own-

Coaches Find Weight Is Needed on Teams

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Three of the more important football teams starting on the gridiron this season are likely to find that they have to stress marked individual skill against a considerable overplus of weight.

At Notre Dame, one of the three, Knute Rockne has been successful to a degree in doing this in previous years. Dick Harlow of Colgate has never faced this situation before as he does this year and it is doubtful if Percy Haughton ever found himself with quite so little good heavy material as he finds himself at Columbia.

Rockne lost some remarkable men, notably Brown of his line and is working hard on the problem of developing power, if not weight. Harlow lost that star guard, Welch, as well as Leonard, the tackle, and is faced with a hard task in getting enough weight for defense and for the protection of his running plays. Haughton has a most promising backfield, led by that star Koppisch, but he, too, finds himself in need of weight to keep the pressure off these men, save them from doing too much defensive work, and keep stamina enough in them for the attack. It promises to be a most interesting problem for solution at all three places.

Coons Trim Wolves In Three-Men Contest

The Coons handed the Wolves a defeat last night at the Recreation alleys in the three-men games when the dusky pinshooters took two of the three games of the match. Caswell of the winners was high score man with 227 in the second game, but was pushed close by Sands of the losers, who got 221 the same game. The score:

COONS
Royce	202	181
Caswell	184	197
Anstey	194	191
Totals	580	601
WOLVES
Paul	160	144
Hammes	135	205
Sands	196	221
Totals	491	570

ers who hold managers responsible for the failure of other teams to overtake the Giants but the players of the New York team did more to win the pennant than all the managers did to contribute to their victory.

Washington did not begin at the pace at which it finished but the club never got so far down that it could not strike when the opportunity offered and as the season wore on and the players became united, they played better and better ball. Had Washington had a batter or two like Ty Cobb, they would have had the championship stowed away long before they did.

The coming world series is going to be one in which figure "dope" will be worth mighty little. It is going to be a series in which there may be low scores, pitchers' battles and high score batting bees. And it is possible that a game or more than a game may be won by a misplay. The mental state is going to have everything to do with the result. There will be lots of speed, and exciting rallies may be looked for. Young Bucky Harris is going to have his hands full outwitting the strategist McGraw. If the Washingtons win out it will be a great victory for them—and for Harris, Ohio 0.

LULL IN TEMPEST ONLY TEMPORARY

Landis Expected to Continue Investigation After Series Is Ended

By GEORGE BARRY
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The tempest kicked up by baseball's newest scandal was allayed somewhat today but it was the opinion of baseball men gathered here for the opening of the world series tomorrow that it is only a temporary lull.

Few doubt that once the series is out of the way a new series storm is going to rock the national game, and on every hand today the question was being asked: "What will it lead to?"

For the time being, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis is going to devote his time to conducting the world's series. He is content to leave things stand as they are for the present.

La Dis Resting
Jimmy O'Connell, the Giants' young outfielder, has confessed that he sought to bribe Heinie Sand, the Phillies' shortstop, in the closing days of the National league season—O'Connell and Cozy Dolan, the Giant Coach, have been shunted out of baseball for all time—and on this Judge Landis is willing to rest. With a deprecating wave of his hand he has decided there is nothing to O'Connell's story that Frankie Frisch, Pep Young and George Kelly, the backbone of the Giant team, were "in on the whole thing."

"An abortive attempt was made to bribe a ball player to throw a game," said the judge. "The attempt failed. That is all there is to it. Why call off the series?"

'Keep Shirts On'
This was the judge's answer to Ban Johnson, president of the American league and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, both of whom declared the world's series should have been called off.

The white-haired czar of the game also had some curt advice for Messrs. Johnson, Dreyfuss and others who have been expressing opinions at random since the latest storm broke over the baseball world.

"Now is a good time," observed the judge, "for persons not clothed with authority in this matter to keep their shirts on. I'm keeping mine on."

Judge Landis would not say that the investigation into Jimmy O'Connell's story is ended. Nor would he say that, once the world's series is out of the way, an investigation will be launched that may provide sensations akin to those that rocked the baseball world in the famous "Black Sox" expose.

Questions by the handful were thrown at the judge wherever he went today. But he answered few of them. And those he did choose to answer were replied to in such enigmatic phrases as this:

"With me an investigation is never ended this side of the grave."

FOR GAME'S SAKE
By LAWRENCE PERRY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—It would seem that the authorities for Loyola University in New Orleans have an erroneous idea as to just what the functions of the Notre Dame football eleven are.

The South Bend team will be in Atlanta playing Georgia Tech and President D'Antoni of Loyola has asked the Notre Dame authorities to "make a two weeks' trip of it and to drop into New Orleans where they can remain a week" and then play the team of the young New Orleans institution on the Saturday following.

The money consideration is a $10,000 guarantee and expenditure, a matter, it is estimated, of about $2000.

It will perhaps be brought to the attention of the Loyola promoters that football is not the main interest of Notre Dame university and that, strange as it may seem, the young gladiators are seriously, more or less, in pursuit of an education. At any rate, the president of Loyola seems to be under a misapprehension concerning this Atlanta journey of the South Benders.

They will not sojourn for a week or so in Atlanta before repairing to Grant field to meet the Yellowjackets and once this game is played they will have to hurry back to their college to attend classes the following Monday.

The intimation is that if $10,000 and expenses are not enough to interest Notre Dame, the ante will be raised. Somehow one suspects that the Louisianians have got Notre Dame confused with the Canton Bulldogs or some other pro eleven.

Wisconsin May Lower Football Ticket Cost

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Athletic authorities at the University of Wisconsin are flirting with the idea of reducing the price of football tickets to the minimum when the new football stadium which is being built on a pay-as-you-go basis is completed.

It remains to be seen whether or not the Badgers will dare to enter upon a venture so economically bold. The problem of reducing income will probably seem greater and more ramified when the time arrives to come to grips with it.

"I think," writes T. E. Jones, athletic director at Madison, "that as soon as the intermural physical education and intercollegiate football tickets should be reduced to a minimum. The conference now has a rule restricting the price of tickets to students to 50 cents and my opinion is that when our athletic establishments are built up that the public and alumni should be admitted on the same basis."

"Much has been said with regard to individual boys who have stepped over the amateur line and I feel that the college cannot continue to charge the present high prices and divert the receipts to maintaining other phases of university work without commercializing the whole institution of college athletics."

May Permit Firpo to Stay In U. S. to Fight

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Luis Angel Firpo's chances of remaining in the United States as long as he wishes brightened today, following the favorable report of Immigration Commissioner Henry H. Curran to the department of labor. Curran saw no reason why the Argentine fighter should be deported. Canon Chase, who sought the fighter's deportation before the Wills match, indicated through his attorney that he would not consider the case ended. Chase charged that Firpo brought a woman to America for immoral purposes.

Barney Cares Little for What McGraw Says

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 4.—"Anything John McGraw may say doesn't make any particular difference. McGraw has all he can do to take care of himself." This was the reply of Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, when told of the statement attributed to the manager of the New York Giants that Dreyfuss's statements on the Giants' players' scandal were issued because the Pirates failed to win this year's pennant.

TELLS MORTGAGE COMPANY'S VALUE

Homes and Buildings Erected Through Assistance of Lending Concern

Few people realize the value of a mortgage company to any community. And a very few realize that from a dollars and cents standpoint a concern of this kind does more for a city than any other form of financial organization.

A mortgage company is the homebuilder of a community; it is the body that is actually responsible for the erection of the residence and business structure.
In other words, it is the storage battery behind the starter—it furnishes the "juice."

A mortgage company is formed primarily to finance the building of homes and business blocks. In this very act it is doing a service the value of which can hardly be realized. Without homes the city cannot grow, and without concerns to finance the building of these dwellings, such structures could not be erected. Therefore, the mortgage companies are almost indispensable to the growth of any city, especially in a section that is growing as rapidly as is Southern California.

Money Needed
To operate, the mortgage company must have money. This it obtains through the sale of its stock. As paid in, this money is put to work—it is loaned on homes or business blocks. After being set to work these dollars multiply rapidly. Every dollar loaned is fully secured by real estate.

All this shows why the stock of the Gibraltar Finance corporation, with local offices at 218 South
Brand boulevard is being purchased so readily by wise investors, it is announced, and the rate at which the stock is being picked up forecasts an early sale of the entire issue. Cash or terms may be employed in the purchase of this stock. An opening offer of two shares of preferred and one of common for $200 is still in force, the announcement continues.

If you are interested in a profitable, sound and absolutely safe investment, a card sent to the above address will bring an instructive folder, the announcement concludes.

Gov. Ross of Wyoming Dies After Operation

Senorita Will Dance

FAUSTINITA LUCERO, pretty daughter of the Dons, who is one of the large cast which will open the production of "The Mission Pageant of San Juan Capistrano" within the walls of the historical mission tomorrow afternoon.

The ancient, adobe walls of the San Juan Capistrano mission once more will look upon the colorful events of their own historic past, when, beginning tomorrow, "The Mission Pageant" will be enacted every Saturday and Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

On each of these occasions will be performed the picturesque episodes of early California life dealing with the efforts of the early Franciscan padres to Christianize and colonize the territory and the many attempts by buccaners to plunder it.

The pageant is being staged in an effort to restore the mission itself so that one of California's most storied landmarks may be permanently preserved. Most of the actors who are to participate in the performances have donated their services.

Among these is Faustinita Lucero, a fascinating young Spanish dancer, who is lending her artistry toward the restoration of the handiwork of her ancestors. The cast, too, includes, among others, Arthur Kachel, the "Pontius Pil-late" of the Hollywood "Pilgrimage Play," who is to portray Bouchard, an Argentine buccaneer whose followers attacked the mission in 1818.

This episode, a little known event in California's history, furnishes one of the most colorful and thrilling incidents in the pageant. It shows the defense of the post by the inhabitants under public by the soldiers and the Spanish commandant, Alferaz Santiago Arguello, the arrival of reinforcements from Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, and the final rout of the attackers.

Garnet Holme, pageant director of the national parks, is in charge of the production, and the costumes of the early era are being made under the direction of Victor Ginnar of San Diego.

next president of the United States.

Met President

"Coolidge is not the cold, haughty individual he is often pictured," Mr. Evans declared.
"Mrs. Evans and myself had the pleasure of calling on him and were cordially received. He is warm-hearted, human and agreeable. I have met him before and this last meeting convinced me more than ever that he is a man of the most intense sincerity."
"It is true he could have made himself more popular had he not vetoes the soldiers' bonus, postoffice and pension bills—but he vetoes them because it was consistent with his determined policy of national economy, which he pledged to the people when he took office."

Weller Speaks

Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, candidate for re-election from the Sixty-first assembly district, spoke briefly, declaring: "Individuals frequently do not realize what they can do in an individual way.
It is frequently the little things that change the destinies of nations," and he pictured certain crucial periods in the lives of Washington and Lincoln. "This recent oil scandal proves that most of the people are honest, because if such things were usual and customary the newspapers would find nothing in them sensational enough to feature. The blame for these things should not rest on the Republican party or on Coolidge."

Among the other speakers were Judge Frank H. Lova of the Glendale police court, Robert S.
Person and Rev. C. R. Norton, the latter a G. A. R. veteran and for many years a member of that venerable organization.

Rev. Norton recalled with misty eyes the tragic day of the assassination of his commander-in-chief, Abraham Lincoln, and closed his address with a reference to the remark from Garfield to the surging New York mob:
"The Lord reigns and the government at Washington still lives."
